"I AM" POEMS

Mr. Grady's 9th graders wrote "I Am" poems. Following frames and prompts, they thought about what makes them unique.

Here are some of the results; they had a lot of fun with this!

I am intelligent and strong I wonder what the future will bring I hear the melodies of the stars I see a life where love is never wrong I want to live a life where I am where I belong

I am intelligent and strong I pretend to be a superhero saving the day I feel the rush of victory after a hard won game Touching the hearts of others with my name I worry that i might falter and stumble, that it'll get tough I cry for those who are lost and alone, searching for meaning, searching for a home I am intelligent and strong I understand that the journey is long, but with preservereance i can't go wrong I say that everyday is a new dawn

I dream of a world where everyone belongs, where everyone gets to be themselves and be free

I try to make that dream a reality, to create a world everyone can see, that they are loved and valued, that they are worthy

I hope for a future bright and merry, where every person can live their life true and carefree I am intelligent and strong, the

the courage to carry on.

I am hopeful and grateful I wonder why I even try anymore I hear others frustrations I see why some people don't like me I want to be happy

I am hopeful and grateful I pretend to be the best I feel as if I am not good enough I touch others hearts I worry that I am not good enough I cry all the time

I understand that not everyone likes me I say that I love my friends and family I dream to have a truly happy life I try my best at everything I do I hope my parents aren't disappointed in me.

I am hopeful and grateful
